FORD FOUNDATION FELLOWSHIP PROGRAMS

Learn More

Through its program of fellowships, the Ford Foundation seeks to increase the diversity of the nation’s college and university faculties by increasing their ethnic and racial diversity, maximize the educational benefits of diversity, and increase the number of professors who can and will use diversity as a resource for enriching the education of all students. Predoctoral, dissertation, and postdoctoral fellowships are awarded in a national competition administered by the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine on behalf of the Ford Foundation. Eligibility to apply for a Ford fellowship is limited to:

- All U.S. citizens, U.S. nationals, and U.S. permanent residents (holders of a Permanent Resident Card);
- Individuals granted deferred action status under the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals Program;
- Indigenous individuals exercising rights associated with the Jay Treaty of 1794; individuals granted Temporary Protected Status; asylees; and refugees, regardless of race, national origin, religion, gender, age, disability, or sexual orientation;
- Individuals with evidence of superior academic achievement (such as grade point average, class rank, honors or other designations); and
- Individuals committed to a career in teaching and research at the college or university level in the U.S.

project manager – nasa

applications due by 8/15/2022

NASA and the European Space Agency (ESA) are working together to bring samples of Martian material to Earth for scientific study. Mars 2020 and its Perseverance rover is the first mission of this international interplanetary campaign; currently collecting samples to cache on Mars for future retrieval. Two additional missions are planned for the Mars Sample Return campaign to follow the Mars 2020 mission to bring samples to Earth in 2033. These samples will be important scientific evidence of a place, other than Earth, known to be friendly to life in the past to answer a key question: did life ever exist on Mars? The Role - NASA is searching for a hands-on Project Manager responsible for the overall technical and programmatic direction of the Mars Sample Receiving Project (SRP). This project is the final project of the Mars Sample Return campaign once samples are brought to Earth and includes all aspects of post-flight activities including spacecraft and sample recovery operations after Earth entry; design, development, and operation of a BSL-4 equivalent containment facility for sample safety assessment; enabling and administering mission sample science; and the curation of the Martian samples for study and long-term storage. The Project Manager will work with cross-Agency and international teams of scientists, engineers, architects, technicians, vendors and international partners to develop plans, identify risks, and manage performance and schedule within budget to achieve project goals. They will partner closely with JSC, JPL, NASA HQ, and ESA leaders to proactively define and manage project content as well as determine or participate in determining the scope of each life cycle phase and develop the products for major reviews and decisions.

Post-doc opportunity - air force science & technology fellowships

The National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine administers postdoctoral and senior research awards at the U.S. Air Force Research Laboratory (AFRL), the U.S. Air Force Institute of Technology (AFIT), and the U.S. Air Force Academy (USAFA) under the Air Force Science & Technology Fellowship Program (AF STFP). Seeking highly qualified candidates who are U.S. citizens and hold, or anticipate earning, a doctorate in a variety of fields of science or engineering.

Application deadline dates (four annual review cycles): February 1, May 1, August 1, November 1

Awardees have the opportunity to:
• Conduct independent research in an area compatible with the interests of the Air Force laboratories
• Devote full-time effort to research and publication
• Access the excellent and often unique Air Force research facilities
• Collaborate with leading scientists and engineers

http://www.eaps.purdue.edu/
• Awardee benefits:
• Base stipend starting at $76,542; may be higher based on experience
• Health insurance (including dental/vision), relocation benefits, and a professional travel allowance

Applicants should contact prospective AFRL, AFIT and USAFA Research Adviser(s) at the lab(s) prior to the application deadline to discuss their research interests and funding opportunities. For detailed program information, to search for AFRL, AFIT, and USAFA Research Opportunities, and to contact prospective Research Adviser(s), visit www.nas.edu/afstfp.
